- Countrywide. As we start April and move into the grass cutting season you may have noticed that we have had one of the wettest starts to the year for quite some time and this seems to be continuing. This has left many of the grass areas that we maintain saturated and waterlogged! Because of the continuous rain these areas are not getting the opportunity to dry out. What this doesn't stop is the ability of the grass to grow. So, as the weather starts to warm, the grass will start to grow quickly, but our ability to get on to these wet areas is seriously diminished.
- We will continue to liaise with you on every site visit to ensure that you're aware of whether we have been able to cut the grass, and we will strive to catch up with any uncut areas as soon as we can, but we do ask that you bear with us as we wait for the soil to dry out. We do not want to be in a situation where we cut grass for the aesthetic cause only to do more damage which would take a long time to recover or permanently damage the ground. Areas that can be cut will be cut but please do not be surprised if some areas are left uncut at this early stage in the season.
